select flavours in minimal music

Sunday, 5 March 2006

at The Gramophone 60-62
Commercial St
London, E1 6LT

Aftermatch is the monthly club night promoted by after-dinner.net - a London based netlabel. Every first Sunday of the month we present you select flavours in minimal music with live- and dj-sets by after-dinner artists and friends.

lineup:

J-Lab -live (After-Dinner, DIN-collective)
Alex Fisher -live (After-Dinner)

Dub KULT (Traum, Raum...Musik, After-Dinner)
Aki (ToysForBoys Rec, P3P, Declic - Belgium)
Pascal Opitz (Patent Blau)
Andy Sparks (After-Dinner)

Sunday 5th March sees an Aftermatch with plenty reason to have a cheerful afternoon: As special guest we present Aki from the Belgium Toys for Boys label. Aki - who likes to gum the borderlines click house and minimal techno - is also known for his Declic nights at the Soundstation in Liege and his residence with P3P in Brussels.

Dub Kult, who has just released on the German Traum label, will join Aki as a DJ. He will be using laptop and live5 rather than vinyl, allowing to play gems from the internet label sphere.

J-Lab will entertain with an improvised live performance, bringing in some Detroit influence into his tight minimal techno sets. A second live set is given Alex Fisher, the aftermatch co-host. He - in contrast to J-Lab - orientates his music more towards Chicago.
DJ support is given by the aftermatch regulars Pascal Opitz and Andy Sparks - with select flavours in minimal music.

Aftermatch, Sunday 5 March, from 4pm to 11pm. Entry is free for all.
